

For Immediate Release

11/21/17

ACL, Inc. is proud to announce our successful achievement from ISO 9001:2008 to the newly revised quality management systems standard ISO 9001:2015. The certification audit by DQS Inc. Management Systems Solutions took place in October 2017.

As one of the few supplier-manufacturers of static control products with ISO certification, ACL first achieved ISO 9001 certification in 1995. Our commitment to product excellence and quality customer service along with achieving the highest standard of quality systems has established ACL as a world leader in static control products and solutions.

The owner of ACL, Frank Ungari stated, "I am excited in reporting that ACL, Inc. has earned the new ISO 9001:2015 certificate effective 11/5/2017. We are proud to be one of the few companies in our industry that is committed to provide our customer the highest standards of product quality and customer service by implementing quality systems in accordance with ISO 9001:2015".

ACL Inc. will continue to look for the best ways to serve our customers in the near future. We appreciate the support of our customers and suppliers. ACL is committed to meeting and exceeding expectations.
